

SVAN Presents INCA SON

Sacandaga Valley Arts Network is proud to present INCA SON a true Andean folk music band. In the words of Boston Pops conductor Keith Lockhart, (they are) “the indispensable cultural ambassadors of this nearly lost South American folk tradition. Their music is of the highest caliber.” Shortly after SVAN booked INCA SON, they won the World Music Award. To note a few of their distinguished awards, INCA SON as received the: Winner of Independent Music Award, for "Best World Traditional Song", Champions of Arts Education Award for "Distinguished Arts Educator of Music", "Outstanding Latino Group" winner in Milan, Italy and the Prestigious "Order of the Sun" from the Peruvian government in tribute to INCA SON's distinguished career.

With over 10 CD's to their credit, this group has played venues all over the world. Here in the states they have played for dignitaries in Washington DC, played at the winter Olympics in Salt Lake City, and the Boston Pops, just to name a few.

Dressed as either their Inca forebears, with feathers and gold earrings, or in the resplendent wool ponchos still worn in the Andes Mountains, INCA SON with the equally vibrant music, characterized by the distinctive sounds of the haunting pan-flutes or the lively charango (Andean ten-stringed guitar), INCA SON crosses barriers of language, culture, race, and age. It is a band with a truly universal appeal. INCA SON is now recognized as one of the world's best world Traditional Music groups. The native costumes bring your attention to the idea that you are definitely in for a different show.
